The sign of being powerful is that your thoughts, words, deeds, nature and sanskars will be equal to those of the Father.

Today, the spiritual Father has come to ask children the news of the heart that they have given to the Comforter of Hearts. All of you have given your heart to the Comforter of Hearts, have you not? Now, since you have given your heart to the one Comforter of Hearts, there can no longer be anyone apart from Him. To give your heart to the Comforter of Hearts means to sit Him in your heart. This is known as easy yoga. The head follows the heart. Therefore, you have the Comforter of Hearts in your heart and also in your head, that is, in your awareness. Do you experience that no other awareness or person comes between you and the Comforter of Hearts? Since you have given your heart and head, that is, since you have given your awareness, thoughts and powers to the Father, what else remains? You now belong to the Father in your thoughts, words and deeds. You consider yourself to belong to Baba and you even say, "I am Baba's and Baba is mine!" And, in terms of actions, whatever service you do, it is the Father's service, and so it is your service. You now belong to the Father in your thoughts, words and deeds in this way, do you not? So what margin is there now for even the slightest thought to enter? Is there a door or window left open through which any thought or attraction could enter? The way for anyone to enter is through your mind, intellect, words and deeds. Check all four and see that you haven't left any margin for any of them to enter. Is there any margin? Dreams are also based on this. Once you have told the Father, "All of this is Yours", what else remains? This is called constant remembrance. You don't make any difference in speaking about it and doing it, do you? You don't mix "mine" in "Yours", do you? Sun dynasty means golden-aged. There wouldn't be anything mixed in that, would there? The diamond should be flawless. There isn't any flaw remaining, is there?

Whenever you speak about any weakness of thoughts, words, nature or sanskars, what do you say? My idea is this, or my sanskar is like that. However, whatever the Father's sanskars and thoughts are, they should be your sanskars and thoughts. When your thoughts and sanskars become like those of the Father, you will never say, "What can I do? My nature and sanskars are like that!" The words "What can I do?" are words of weakness. The sign of being powerful is that you will be constantly equal to the Father in your thoughts, words, deeds, nature and sanskars. It cannot be that yours would be different from the Father's. There would constantly be the word "Baba, Baba" in the thoughts, words and every activity of such a soul in a natural way. Whilst performing actions, you should have the experience that Karanhar (One who acts through others) is making you do it. Since there is Baba in everything, Maya cannot come. There can either be the Father or Maya. You residents of London have become conquerors of Maya by constantly saying, "Baba, Baba" and keeping Baba in your awareness. Since you are claiming an inheritance for all time, remembrance also has to be for all time. You also have to be conquerors of Maya for all time.

London is the foundation place of service. Therefore, those who are living at the foundation place are also as strong as a foundation. There aren't any complaints such as, "What can I do? How can I do this?", are there? Generally, you perform plays about Maya. In every drama, Maya, who is not meant to come, comes there. Perhaps you are unable to create plays without Maya. You show many different forms of Maya, do you not? Now show a play about the transformed form of everything. You understand very clearly what the main form of Maya is. Now, after becoming conquerors of Maya, show a play about how the form of Maya has changed. Just as the body conscious vision of lust has changed into the form of spiritual love, similarly, all the vices are transformed. So experience in a practical way what has been transformed and also show it (in the play).

What aim are you residents of London especially keeping for self-progress and world benefit? All of you should especially have the awareness that you are angels, and what the form, words and deeds of an angel are. You will then automatically continue to do everything as angels. Constantly maintain the awareness: "I am an angel!" Since you now belong to the Father and you have given whatever belonged to you to Him, then what have you become? You have become light angels. In order to fulfil this aim, only remember one expression: "Everything belongs to the Father, nothing is mine!" Whenever you use the word "mine", now change it into "Yours". You will then not feel any burden. You are moving forward every year and will constantly continue to move forward. It is very firm, is it not, that you are angels who are going into the flying stage? You are not those who constantly go up and down. Achcha.

Everyone knows the praise of the residents of London. With which vision does everyone see all of you? The constant conquerors of Maya, because you are receiving powerful double sustenance. You are constantly receiving sustenance from BapDada, but you are also receiving the powerful sustenance from those whom the Father has made instruments. What will you become when you follow the incorporeal, subtle and the corporeal? You will become angels, will you not? Residents of London means those who have nocomplaints and no confusion. All of you are kings and queens who have a spiritual life and self-sovereignty. You have this intoxication, do you not?

BapDada meeting Kumaris:

Kumaris constantly remain cheerful seeing their fortune. Kumaris are remembered as elevated in their worldly life. On the path of knowledge too, you are great. You are elevated souls in your worldly life and also elevated in this spiritual life. Do you consider yourselves to be great in this way? At least say "Yes" in such a way that the world can hear it. BapDada keeps the kumaris in the treasure-store of His heart so that no one can cast his vision on you. You are such invaluable jewels! Kumaris always remain busy in study and service. You have found the Father in your kumari life, and so what more could you want? You didn't have to wander around in many relationships; you were saved from that. You found all relationships in the One. Otherwise, do you know how many wasteful relationships you would have had? That of a mother-in-law, various sisters-in-law. You have been saved from all of that. You neither became trapped in the trap nor was any time spent in liberating you from it. Kumaris are double light anyway. Kumaris are constant servers, equal to the Father and also embodiments of all dharna, equal to the Father. A kumari life means a pure life. Pure souls are elevated souls, are they not? So BapDada sees kumaris in the form of great worthy-of-worship souls. Pure souls are loved by the Father and everyone.

Constantly keep your fortune in front of you, become powerful souls and continue to bring power into service. This is a great charity. Give others the attainment that you have attained. By distributing your treasures, they will increase even more. You are kumaris who have such pure thoughts, are you not? Achcha.

BapDada meeting teachers:

You are the special showpieces in the showcase of the world. Everyone's vision is on the instrument servers and teachers. You are constantly on the stage. The stage is so large, and so there are many who are watching you. Everyone expects to attain something from you instrument souls. Do you constantly have this awareness? Do you live at a centre or on the stage? You are constantly on the biggest stage in the midst of unlimited souls. Therefore, as the children of the Bestower, constantly continue to bestow and fulfil everyone's hopes and desires. Become great donors and bestowers of blessings. This is your form. By having this awareness, every thought, word and deed you have, should be like those of a hero, because souls of the world are watching you. Constantly remain on the stage! Don't come down! BapDada considers the instrument servers to be His friends because the Father is also the Teacher. Therefore, those who are instruments similar to the Father are His friends, are they not? You are such close souls. Do you constantly experience yourselves to be with the Father and close to Him? Whenever you say "Baba", He is with you with a thousand arms. Do you experience this? BapDada gives extra co-operation to those who have become instruments. Therefore, say "Baba" and call Him with a lot of intoxication and He will be present. BapDada is obedient, is He not? Achcha.

Blessing: May you be worthy of receiving blessings from everyone by moulding yourself to everyone else.

Whenever you receive a direction, pay attention to it and mould yourself. At that time, don't use your own dictates. Great souls have to bow down for the sake of service. If others have thoughts because of your behaviour, then you have to mould yourself. This is the way to become worthy of receiving blessings from everyone. Therefore, don't go into the questions of "Why?" or "What?" but put a full-stop. When one says something and the other one accepts it, you become instruments to give happiness to many.

Slogan: Souls who are self-sovereign can never be dependent on anyone else.
